

Reflective Writing

What problems did you encounter in completing this signature assignment? How did you troubleshoot them, if you did?

I am a very shy person and tend to try to stay away from strangers. I am also not a very curious person, asking questions is not my thing, so having my two weaknesses in one assignment was very challenging for me. To prepare myself, I practiced many times before actually conducting the interview. I wanted to make sure I knew which questions I was going to ask and in which order, giving me a smaller chance of being nervous at the interview. Coming up with questions was also very hard for me and it took me a few days to get enough questions. Starting the project early helped me with overcoming this problem.
